

Dear Timewaster!

Thank you for downloading this document and participating in the Timewaster Collection hall of fame program. The following scores are eligible for being posted on the rootsolutions website:

Timewaster log

Hiscore in 'StarWhiz'

Loscore in 'LabVirus'

To submit your score, please verify first that it actually tops any posted score. If it does, make a screenshot of the relevant window, i.e. the game menu for the timewasting log, or one of the game files, so that your score can be identified. If you have Dropstuff (Mac) or WinZip (PC), please compress the image before sending it.

Please mail the image to info@rootsolutions.de. Thank you for your contribution and good luck!

FAQ: Can I have my score published, even if I am not a registered user?

Answer: It depends. Your timewasting log is tracked whether you have registered the Timewaster Collection or not. So, if you just want to show how much time you have wasted already, then the answer is 'yes'. However, since you cannot enter your scores in the games until you register, those scores cannot be published. You waste your time trying to send an email saying that you really had a top score. Even though this may be exactly what you want, in this case the answer is 'no'.
